Following chance meeting of two aspiring DJ/producers, Anthony Middleton and Luca Saporito, back in 2002, Audiofly was born. Now, years later this Anglo-Italian double act have developed into one of the hottest underground house and techno acts on the global circuit.

Citing influences from the more melodic sides of techno and electronic house they've managed to forge their own unique sound made up of deep basslines, concise kicks, jolting riffs and atmospheric, captivating melodies. Warm yet sharp, rocking yet smooth, their sound has seen them rise through dance music's ranks to become one of the most talked about and sought after artists to come out of London in recent years.

Being brought together through their similar tastes for the deep and melancholy means that an Audiofly DJ set flows with grace and energy. Their love for the party, the music and the crowds they play to clearly reflects in their performances behind the decks. This has seen them play across the globe at venues such as Berlin's Watergate, Echoes, Metropolis and club Index in Italy, Sound Planet, Kiev, Pacha, SanPaolo, La Mania and Kristal , Romania and Amnesia and Space in Ibiza....

Their talent and hard graft in the studio, always seeking perfection, has seen their prolific release schedule of music lapped up by their DJ peers and their music has been snapped up and put out on top drawer labels including Get Physical, Moodmusic, Harthouse and SAW recordings amongst others. Such is their versatility in the studio, they've also collaborated under a number of guises including Rekleiner (with Mulletover's Geddes), Sleeper Thief (with Miss Jools), S.L.A.A.F. (with Steve Lawler) and Opus Ink (with Satoshi Tomiie), bringing the best out of themselves and those who they work with. Throw in their numerous remixes and you begin to understand why they're so in demand in every aspect.

With an album forthcoming later this year, the continuation of their relentless production/remix/collaboration schedule and a DJ diary rammed full of the hottest gigs across the world, expect to be hearing their name because they're not going anywhere...
